DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claim 6 is objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c), as being of improper dependent form for failing to further limit the subject matter of a previous claim. Applicant is required to cancel the claim(s), or amend the claim(s) to place the claim(s) in proper dependent form, or rewrite the claim(s) in independent form. Claim 6 depends on itself. Therefore it fails to further limit the subject matter of previous claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

4. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Otala (Patent # 6,154,208).

Regarding claims 1, 7, 12 and 16, Otala teaches the claimed invention of facilitating printing as shown in fig 3 and described in col. 3, lines 64-66.

Forwarding printable data to proxy driver, receiving it and processing data to create proxy image and forwarding to the printer is described in col. 4, lines 58-67, wherein the proxy image is created by the driver (proxy driver) and is transmitted to the printer.

Otala does not specifically teach receiving a data with a printing controller. However, since Otala teaches the data to be printed it is obvious that the CPU controls the printing functions. Printing controller is also well known in the art for organizing the printing functions. Therefore it would have been obvious for a person with ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to implement a printing controller in the method of Otala because it facilitates printing by organizing the printing queue.

Regarding claims 2, 8, 13, 14, 17, Otala teaches the claimed invention of storing the proxy image in the data storage area as shown in fig 6 and described in col. 6, lines 49-60, wherein information concerning output image is stored that is equivalent to claimed memory storage.

Art Unit: 2176

Regarding claims 3, 9, 15, 18, Otala teaches the claimed invention of data forwarded to proxy driver stored in uncontrolled memory space is described in col. 8, lines 13-15, wherein the data is stored in an external source or world wide web which is uncontrolled memory space.

Regarding claims 4, Otala teaches the claimed invention of receiving processed data translated into printing device language is described in col. 4, lines 58-67, wherein Otala teaches translating from one format to another which is readable by printer.

Regarding claims 5, 10, 19, Otala teaches the claimed invention for searching of proxy driver as described in col. 5, lines 19-30.

Regarding claims 6, 11, 20, Otala teaches printer interface as shown in fig 2, element 36. It is obvious that user is prompted to select the printer.
